RIVERA

COMPANY PROFILE

In the early 70's, it started with Dr. Ernesto Rivera Guzman selling fresh fruit by collecting from all the home gardens in his town in Esquinapa as an economic benefit to the area.

Then in the 21st century, Ernesto Rivera Jr initiated Organic Certification since their mangoes have always been grown without pesticides, which has been a huge boost for sales.

Today, Dr. Rivera's farms employ over 400 people. And many them have been with the company for decades, like a big family. And because they are serious about our organic certification, it is also a very healthy place to work. Free of pesticides and herbicides, with high standard production, from cutting to dehydrating of the mangoes and handful of specialty products.
